

GENERAL MURRAY ABANDONS PLAN TO WINTER HERE

Will Accept Presidency of the American Red Cross Society,
Succeeding Taft

Maj.-gen. Arthur Murray, who was recently retired from the army after the unusual honor of serving a year beyond the age limit, by consent of Congress, so that he might command the Western Department during the San Francisco Exposition, has given up his intention of visiting his nieces, Mrs. Thomas D. Sloan, wife of Lieut. Sloan, 104th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, and Mrs. James E. Chaney, wife of Lieut. Chaney, 25th Infantry. General Murray had previously expressed his desire to spend the winter here.

Gen. Murray has been offered, and it is said will accept, the presidency of the American Red Cross Society, in place of Ex-President William Howard Taft, who recently resigned the position. Rumors reached here some days ago that Gen. Murray was to be placed at the head of the soldiers' home in Washington, D. C., but the rumors were not confirmed.

Information that Gen. Murray is to take the presidency of the Red Cross is authentic and came from Gen. Murray himself. Duties of the new position make his visit here impracticable.

The era of submarine warfare began in February, 1864, when the United States sloop Housatonic was sunk by an underwater craft by means of a torpedo at the end of a spar projecting from it.

ONE OF FORD'S MACHINES GOES OUT ON WARPATH

Little Auto Seems to Resent
Mission of Peacemaker, and Turns Mighty Hostile

Unknown to Henry Ford, the great peacemaker, his factory at some time turned out a Ford machine that was hostile in the extreme and sold it to B. F. Lee of Honolulu. This morning the Ford which has deceived its owner by its gentle appearance, showed its real disposition by running a fruit stand belonging to S. Kaya and trying to demolish a building.

Lee left the machine standing on Queen street, opposite the Matson wharf, and went on the pier. Kaya was standing by his portable fruit and peanut stand, when the Ford with no one in its descent on him and demolished the stand, scattering peanuts and pop corn over the street. He declares the machine chased him to the sidewalk and has some evidence in the tracks of the auto. The Ford ran about Queen street for a few minutes jeopardizing lives and scattering pedestrians, and then turned into a side street, kicked a telegraph pole as it passed and butted into the corner of a brick building before ending its career. The collision with the building put it out of commission.

Lee does not blame the machine, which he says was very docile. He says M. Souza, a street cleaner, let off the brake, threw the machine in gear and pushed it to make room to sweep, thus starting it on its final run.

The cedar imported into the United States during 1914 amounted to over 17,000,000 feet, valued at nearly $1,000,000, of which more than half came from Cuba.

MRS. F. W. MACFARLANE TO ACT AS CHAIRMAN OF HAWAIIAN PAGEANT

Mrs. Fred W. Macfarlane notified the Board of Carnival directors today that she will act as their chairman of the Hawaiian pageant.

Mrs. Macfarlane was nominated for the position by Mrs. J. M. Dowsett, president of the Daughters of the Warriors, under whose auspices this year's pageant will be given. On receiving word that she was willing to allow her name to be presented, the board unanimously ratified the nomination by making it an election.

Before Mrs. Dowsett was willing that the Daughters of the Warriors should lend the weight of their name to the production of a pageant, she stipulated that it must be placed in capable hands. She was anxious that the performance should march smoothly and swiftly without the dragging delays that have sometimes marred other pageants, and that all business details should be handled in a workmanlike manner, so that no aftercrop of misunderstandings and petty grievances should survive to hamper future carnivals.

The board assured Mrs. Dowsett that it was heartily of the same mind, and with Mrs. Macfarlane's acceptance in hand, the directors said yesterday that they were assured of the outcome.

France is buying 500,000,000 feet of lumber in British Columbia to reconstruct buildings shattered in war. Boccacio, Byron, Dante, Dickens, Gerrick, Dr. Johnson, Lytton, Moliere, Shakespeare and Socrates all made unhappy marriages.

BOXING WILL BE ALLOWED WITHIN LIMITS OF LAW

New District Attorney Says
Exhibitions Can Be Legal;
No Prize Fights

"I am not in favor of conducting the local United States district court as a police court," declared Horace W. Vaughan this morning, a few moments after he was sworn in as U. S. district attorney to hold that office until such vacancy shall be filled according to law.

"I shall not attempt to make violations of the law out of things that are not violations," continued Mr. Vaughan.

"I know that there can be boxing exhibitions without violating the law. I have no disposition to prevent amusements that are innocent.

"Everyone knows that there are boxing matches that come within the law. But prize fights that are in violation of the statute will be prosecuted. This applies to enlisted men as well as to civilians.

"There are a large number of petty statutory offenses which should be tried in the police court," he added. "It was never intended that the federal district attorney should take all of the time of his office prosecuting petty offenses coming under sections 316 and 318 of the penal code."

These statements were made by Mr. Vaughan upon being requested to outline any new changes of policy in the office of the district attorney. "A great amount of common sense should be used in enforcing the law, and especially in cases of this kind," he added.

Judge Dole on Bench.

Following the order of appointment read by Clerk Foster L. Davis, Mr. Vaughan was sworn in at 10 o'clock this morning, Judge Charles F. Clemons administering the oath. Former Judge Sanford B. Dole was on the bench with Judge Clemons. There were no speeches. Those in the courtroom besides Mr. Vaughan and the judges were Attorneys C. H. McBride, George S. Curry, Jeff McCann, J. Wesley Thompson, E. J. Bolts, Ray J. O'Brien, Clem K. Quinn, J. Lightfoot, J. B. Lightfoot, Clerk Ray Rietow, Clerk Foster Davis and O. Pedro Soares.

Explaining his policies, Mr. Vaughan said that he is not here as a detective, but here to prosecute violations of the law that come to his attention.

"I am going to try and help make the law a protection to the people rather than a menace," he added.

Praise From Judge Dole.

Speaking of the new district attorney, Former Judge Dole said, today: "Mr. Vaughan has shown himself to be a very good lawyer. He evidently has had considerable experience and he is broad-minded in a way. When he sees there is no prospect for a verdict he readily gives up the case and asks for a directed verdict or asks that the case be nolle prossed."

Mr. Vaughan today received a shower of congratulations from various local attorneys and court officials. He was non-committal when asked if he believed Washington would appoint him to the position.

Regarding a report that he is to be appointed assistant district attorney, U. S. Commissioner George S. Curry said today that there was "nothing to it." He added that he has had no official information regarding the matter.

Regarding Mr. Vaughan's appointment, Attorney-General Gregory today sent a cablegram to Judge Clemons, leaving the selection in the latter's hands.
